

In this case, I think using either QuickSort or Randomized QuickSort have the same behavior. Since the lists contains uniformly distributed random integers, on average it doesn't make difference to pick a pivot randomly or from a specific position.